Universal is the seating collection by Jean Marie Massaud for MDF Italia, distinguished by its elegant lines and exceptional ergonomics. Available as a chair or armchair, with either a wooden or fully upholstered backrest, the three-dimensional back is the focal point of the seating. The concept was developed from a study on the curving of the wood which led to the definition of an innovative, now patented technology in which industrial design and craftsmanship merge.
The design takes its name from the disc of the seat, the beating heart of the structure, designed to accommodate different types of bases and backrests, offering endless possibilities for configuration and customisation, further enhanced by a wide range of textile options.
The different declinations of Universal highlight the extraordinary ability of this product to integrate seamlessly into both residential and contract settings, whether classic or contemporary, all while maintaining a strong and distinctive identity.
